Hundred Thousand Men Ex- to Lay Down Their Tools— ado Mines Will Not be Affected at Present.

Ohio, April 19.—Preparations st extensive strike in the bi- l mining are completed so fa action can assist in the formi n. John McBride, president of Mine Workers of America, is ication with local officials in ter, and believes from the re- ved that nearly 125,000 men will at high noon Saturday. HE NORTHERN STRIKE.

ge of Consequence—A Proposal for a Conference.

l, April 19.—At 12:30 to-day Pres- Debs and Vice-President Howard, American Railway Union, sent et Hill a letter inquiring if the of- of the Great Northern would con- a conference with the officers of ion, and the grievance committees striking employes. President Hill ly replied that the officials of the would be willing to receive and hear ployes. President Debs at once legrams to all divisions asking that mittees proceed without delay to l.

unication was also established Grand Organizer Hogan, and it is at that he will personally start a eastward which will pick up all the ittees on his way to St. Paul. The are expected in St. Paul Saturday and it is expected the conference gin Monday. The strike, however, not be declared off until the confer- s.

The train was made up of o mail cars, one on each end, and two passenger coaches between them. The kers immediately mounted the train, coupled it and after taking out the pas- ger coaches, which were occupied by r passengers, side-tracked them, pled the two mail cars together and t the train in this shape with orders to on if they wanted. The strikers propose to resist arrests by attempt to arrest them, and blood- shed may be the consequence.

Six Hundred Miners Quit Work.

East Liverpool, Ohio, April 1.—Fully 600 miners employed at Salineville will obey the order of the United Mine Work- ers to quit work at noon Saturday. One small mine in this vicinity will continue at work. The miners employed by the five large companies at Negley and Rogers, near New Lisbon, to the number of 250, will go out. Three small mines working men will continue in operation.

Trouble Expected.

Birmingham, Ala., April 19.—The first break in the big miners' strike in this dis- trict came made at Blue Creek to-day, when all hands went to work, but being told to quit work by the deputies strikers, but the majority were imported negroes. Deputies were on hand and pre- vented trouble. Two hundred more ne- groes will go to Blue Creek to-morrow. The situation at other mines is unchanged except that everybody is well armed and prepared for trouble.

KANSAS MINERS SATISFIED.

Will Not Obey the Orders of the National Coal Miners' Union.

Topeka, Kan., April 19.—In the opinion of State Mine Inspector Gallagher, who has just returned from a visit to the min- ing districts, there will be no Kansas miners who obey the order for a strike made by the National Coal Miners' Union. He finds that the union is badly divided in Kansas, because of the failure of the national organization to furnish aid dur- ing the strike in Kansas last summer. The operators in the southeastern dis- trict have had assurances from their men that they would not strike this summer, and that they were well satisfied with their present contracts. They are mak- ing extensive preparations for increasing their output to supply the increased de- mand which they are anticipating from Illinois and Iowa, when the strike in those states begin. The miners employed by the Santa Fe Railroad company in their mines at Frontenac have held a meeting and agreed by unanimous vote to stand by the company and to pay no at- tention to the strike order.

Seven Thousand Miners Will Strike.

Johnstown, Pa., April 19.—Six thousand five hundred miners in the sixth bitumin- ous district, comprising eighty mines, principally along the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad and in Northern Cambria county, are expected to strike Saturday next and demand the restoration of the old rate of 45 cents per ton. Five hundred men at Hastings will strike Fri- day.

Will Not Join the Strike.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 19.—The coal miners of the Des Moines district have made no preparations to join in the gen- eral strike April 21, and leaders among them do not believe they will quit work. The same report comes from other sec- tions of the state.

Strike Averted.

Milwaukee, April 19.—There will be no street railway strike in Milwaukee. At 8 o'clock this afternoon the officers of the company signed the old schedule of wages for another year, and the pay of motor- men and conductors will continue to be 10 cents an hour.

Three Hundred and Fifty Men Out.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 19.—A notice stat- ing that every department of the Union Rolling Mills company's Etna street works will be closed down indefinitely next Mon- day, has been posted. Lack of orders is the cause and three hundred and fifty men will be out of work.

Will Not Strike.

Denver, April 19.—The coal miners of Colorado will not strike in obedience to the wishes of the National Association. The winter has been so mild and the coal trade so light that they have succeeded in working but a portion of the time, and they are in no condition to maintain a strike.

Talking of Denouncing Gov. Jackson.

Lincoln, Neb., April 19.—At a mass meeting of laboring men, held here last night, resolutions were adopted denouncing Governor Jackson for his attitude to- wards the Kelly army, while encamped at Council Bluffs. Committees were ap- pointed to solicit provisions for the Kelly band, or similar branches of the Indus- trial army traveling eastward.

Will Discharge 200,000 Soldiers.

London, April 19.—The correspondent at St. Petersburg of the Chronicle telegraphs that the government is expected to dis- charge 200,000 soldiers during the coming summer with a view to facilitating the gathering of the harvest.

Rejoicing Over the Verdict.

Colton, Cal., April 19.—The citizens of this place are rejoicing over the verdict of guilty returned against Vinette, com- mander of the unemployed army for at- tempting to defraud the Southern Pacific Railroad company out of fares. He will also be tried on a charge of inciting a riot.

Forty-Three Hundred Followers.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 19.—The unem- ployed band which refused to work at East St. Louis last week, will arrive here in a day or two. Commander Frey, who is here arranging a reception for his 300 followers, says he will deliver an address next Friday, setting forth the aims of the campaign. There is little sympathy here for the movement. The band is 40 miles from this city.

Colonel Calvin's Regiment.

Cincinnati, April 19.—Colonel Calvin's regiment of General Fry's army is en- camped at Cochran, Ind., about twelve miles below this city. There are two hun- dred and ten men in the regiment, divided into eight companies of twenty-five each. They will break camp Saturday. To-day was wash day. Everywhere the men were taking a bath in the river or washing their clothes in tubs furnished by the town people. Food has been scarce for several days, but this evening the ladies of Aurora, Ind., near by, prepared a hot supper which the men ate with a relish. Chief Dietsch had said the men should not enter the city. Galvin sent him word that he would come and he dared not in- terfere. Dietsch to-night announced that he will be allowed to march through the city, but it must be under police escort, and positively the men will not be allowed to stop within the city limits. Not a man will be allowed to drop out of line, and they will be marched through without a break.

Captain Grayson's Army at Brighton.

Brighton, Colo., April 19.—Captain Grayson's army walked into town this afternoon and were fed by a committee of citizens. They received a telegram from Governor Waite saying that he would give $15 towards paying for the use of three box cars. The army numbering one hundred men are hoping to get away upon a freight to-night. Captain Grayson has little control over the men, and it is be- lieved they will scatter soon.

Mayor Hopkins Refuses to License.

Chicago, April 19.—On account of vigo- rous opposition from the residents of the West Side, near Garfield Park race track, to the re-opening of the track, Mayor Hopkins to-day refused the application for a license. It is said the mayor will use the police force to prevent any at- tempt to race without a license, and see that there is no repetition of past law- lessness and bloodshed.

Gladstone Has a Chill.

London, April 19.—Mrs. Gladstone, re- plying this morning to inquiries made concerning the health of her husband, said that he had suffered from a slight chill, but he has now nearly recovered.

CRIPPLE CREEK.

A Destructive Fire on Bennett Avenue Yesterday.

THE PRINCIPAL LOSSES.

Good Work by Firemen Prevented the Flames from Spreading—Shipping Ore Found by the Aola Company—Other News.

Special to The Gazette.

Cripple Creek, April 19.—Every one con- nected with the Aola, from superintendent to tool sharpener, is wearing the broadest of smiles. The cause is the finding on Wednesday afternoon of a chute of ship- ping ore. This strike was made in the south drift at a distance of sixty feet from the shaft, and at a depth of 100 feet from the surface. The principal pay streak is sixteen inches in width. This quartz is identical in appearance with the best ore from the Chief mine.

The Chief on Raven Hill made another carload shipment to-day. Sinking the shaft is progressing rapidly, and good ore is being hoisted from the bottom, much of which shows free gold. Some new stopes have been recently opened, and the mine is now yielding nearly a carload per week.

Work has been resumed on the Rhino- ceros by the lessees. The rich chute from which so much good ore was taken in the third level has been opened in a drift run from the bottom of the shaft.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

At 10 o'clock this morning Cripple Creek experienced a fire loss of over $3,000, a very small percentage of which was cov- ered by insurance. But for the good work of the fire department and the fact that the city water is now running through the mains, the damage would probably have been enormous, as a steady, strong wind was blowing from the west. The fire started in the American hotel on Bennett avenue, almost directly across the street from the Palace hotel. The entire roof of the building was soon enveloped in flames. The fire department was very quickly on the scene, and did good work in stopping the fire from extending to the adjoining buildings, and succeeded in confining the fire to the building in which it started. The losses were as follows: Coffey & Stumm, Cabinet saloon, $300, no insur- ance; W. H. Allen, stock of fruit, $100, no insurance; Reynolds & O'Brien, stock of harness, $300, insurance $150; loss on building, $50; H. L. Carter, Palace meat market, $50, no insurance; H. P. Arm- strong, owner Palace building, $100, no in- surance.

The Daily Crusher, recognizing the mer- torious and effective work of the fire de- partment, inaugurated a subscription among the business men and property owners to raise a fund for the purpose of providing uniforms and furnishing other paraphernalia for the use of the fire de- partment. Three hundred and fifty dol- lars was raised in about two hours. The subscription list is still open.

SMALL POX SPREADING.

Nearly Two Hundred and Fifty Cases in Chicago.

Chicago, April 19.—The number of small- pox cases continues to increase and there are more patients quarantined in private houses than can be accommodated in the addition to the pest-house. Twenty-six cases were reported to-day to the health department. The destitute condition of the families where the disease exists has added to the horror of the situation. The county agent to-day ordered supplies sent to the quarantined houses, but the victims are suffering for want of medical atten- tion and proper nursing. The grand jury has started an investigation of complaints that children from infected homes in the Tenth ward, where half the cases come from, are attending the public schools. Every pupil in the city schools has been successfully vaccinated, and there is be- lieved to be no danger of the disease spreading from the source. There are nearly 250 cases under treatment. The deaths to-day were four.

BASE BALL.

Opening Games of the National Championship Series.

Washington, April 19.—Between six and seven thousand people, including many prominent in political life, witnessed the opening game of the championship season to-day between the Washington and Phil- adelphia teams. It is safe to say that not one hundred of those present expected to see the home club win, but the game of ball played against their strong opponents to-day was surprising. From the outset, they outplayed their rivals at every point, and backed up Esper's superb pitching in the most approved style, winning rather easily. Score: Washington, 4; Philadel- phia, 2.

ST. LOUIS-PITTSBURG.

St. Louis, April 19.—Eight thousand peo- ple witnessed the opening base ball game to-day. Killin, Pittsburg's star pitcher, proved an easy mark for the Browns, while Breitenstein pitched championship ball from start to finish. The new bunt strike rule worked well. All the men show want of practice, and there is an apparent lack of teamwork in both clubs. St. Louis, 11; Pittsburg, 3.

BOSTON-BROOKLYN.

Boston, April 19.—The opening cham- pionship game at the South End grounds between the Bostons and Brooklyns was ushered in this afternoon with the best weather of the month, and an attendance of nearly 8,000 people. The contest began in a manner that assured a close and small score, but in the fourth inning the champions struck their gait and pounded Kennedy at will. From that on the Bride- grooms were not in the game. Boston, 13; Brooklyn, 2.

BALTIMORE-NEW YORK.

Baltimore, April 19.—In the presence of the largest crowd that ever witnessed a ball game in Baltimore the championship season opened to-day. The New York Giants were pitted against the Orioles, and were defeated by the score of 8 to 3. Baltimore, 8; New York, 3.

Sued the Kansas City Y. M. C. A.

Kansas City, Mo., April 19.—Attorneys representing James B. Leonard, William Platt Pepper and John S. Gebhard, trus- tees for the estate of George S. Pepper, the Philadelphia millionaire, who died re- cently, brought suit to-day in the Circuit Court for $45,570 against the Y. M. C. A. of Kansas City. It is alleged that the Y. M. C. A. when it put up its building at Ninth and Locust streets, borrowed $50,- 000 from Mr. Pepper, giving two notes for the amount, secured by deed of trust on the property. Default was made in the payment of interest, and on March 17 last representatives of the Philadelphian

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

A Big Suit Over the Anna Leo and Doubtful.

PROMINENT LAWYERS ENGAGED.

Dr. Gregg's Lecture at Coburn Library Yesterday—Ethics of the Old Testament was the Topic—Other Local News.

Before Judge Rucker yesterday was begun an injunction suit which will undoubtedly prove one of the most interesting and hard fought mining cases yet started over Cripple Creek property. It involves eventually title to the Anna Leo and Doubtful claims, two of the most important properties in camp. The suit is entitled Charles Steele vs. The Amazon Mining company, but by a cross-bill the Amazon company also becomes a plaintiff in the case. A majority of the stock of the Amazon company is now controlled by the Portland company. Charles Steele is a stockholder in the Amazon company and brings the suit asking the court to restrain Messrs. E. A. Colburn, William Lennox and E. W. Giddings from working the Anna Leo and Doubtful. Eventually the plaintiff will ask that the bond and lease given by the Amazon company or its officers to Messrs. Colburn et al., be set aside. The plaintiff sets up that the property was decided away in January, 1893, by F. O. Wood, who assumed the office of president for that pur- pose. There are affidavits from stockholders and officers who state that they did not have notice of any kind that the officers proposed disposing of the claims, etc.

What the line of defense will be has not yet developed but the case will be hotly contested. A distinguished array of legal talent represents either side. For the plaint- iff are Messrs. Thos. C. Patterson, J. F. Vaile, Colonel Rhett, Hall & Preston and Charles Wilson. For Messrs. Lennox, Gid- dings and Colburn appear Chas. S. Thomas, Chas. J. Hughes, Mr. Rockwell, Colburn and Dudley.

It will take several days to complete the hearing and arguments for the temporary in- junction. Mr. Vaile for the plaintiff oc- cupied yesterday afternoon and evening.

Yesterday's Weddings.

There were two weddings at the First M. E. Church yesterday, the pastor, Rev. H. E. Warner, officiating. At 9:30 Mr. W. J. Fos- ter, a Cripple Creek newspaper man, was married to Miss Cora Hickman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hickman of Colorado City. A large number of friends were present.

At 5 o'clock Mr. Henry B. Lindemann of Denver and Miss Lucy B. Inve of this city were quietly married at the Church.

Some Coxeys—

About twenty-five men who had gotten to- gether at Colorado City struck town yester- day. They stated that they wanted to join the Denver contingent of Coxey's army. A committee of them waited upon Mayor Strickler and asked for transportation, but he could do nothing for them. They hung about the railroad yards all day and in some manner secured beer enough for a majority of them to get drunk. The police decided not to molest them, and last night most of them managed to get into box cars en route to Denver.

OLD TESTAMENT ETHICS.

Dr. Gregg's Interesting Lecture at Co- burn Library.

The lecture of Dr. Gregg in the college chapel yesterday afternoon was a remark- ably interesting one. If all the people in the city who would have enjoyed it had been present, the room would have been full; and it was a pity that all those per- sons did not realize what a privilege they missed by staying away. The audience was a good one, and listened with inter- est and pleasure to what no one has a chance of hearing often, viz: a popular lecture upon the Old Testament. There is no book in the world in which men and women are more generally interested; and yet public utterances concerning it rarely take the form of lectures which appeal to just this phase of this universal feeling which was touched by Dr. Gregg's lec- ture. Instruction and discussion concern- ing the matter of the Old and New Tes- tament is confined to our religious insti- tutions, our churches and seminaries. Very seldom does the public have an op- portunity to hear the great facts which have made this Book so deep an influence in human history presented in the simple, non-technical style which marked this lec- ture; and very seldom from pulpit or from professor's desk is so clear a sum- mary given of the great lines of its teach- ing.

Dr. Gregg showed how the religious idea had developed through the history of the Jewish race. Morality, he said, depends upon religion, as does the branch upon the root; clearness and strength of their re- ligious conceptions directly affect the morality of a nation. All ethical religions tend toward monotheism, and monothe- ism depends upon clearness of moral per- ceptions. The endowment of the Hebrew race was its ethical and religious thought. The natural disposition of the people was toward polytheism; their remarkable spi- ritual development, so different from that of the neighboring tribes, was a direct gift from God. The laws of spiritual progress are exemplified by the evolution of the moral and ethical ideas in the Old Testament. This is the true history of Revelation—the history of the expansion of moral and ethical consciousness. Dr. Gregg gave the conclusions of the best scholars of to-day concerning the author- ship and the dates of the different books, and then proceeded to show the gradual growth and deepening of all the funda- mental principles in the laws, the religious observances, the social customs and the beliefs of the Israelites during that pe- riod of their history covered by the Old Testament. At first they were probably not monotheistic; their religion was mon- olatry, a worship of one God, conjoined with a belief in the existence of other deities. It was only after the exile that they believed Jehovah to be the only God. The different names given to their God—"The Almighty," "Jehovah," "the Holy One," mark stages of progress toward the spiritual conception which was finally reached. The frequent recurrence of the word "covenant" indicates that their idea of the relation between themselves and God was from the first a moral one, i. e., voluntary. The conception of personality is also prominent from the first. The God of Israel was "in nature," but "free from nature." Moses was the founder of the national religion. At first fear was the motive which led to worship; later man was taught to love God because God loved him. The sense of sin deepens from a conception which, was on a level with their idea of physical imperfection to the realization of it as the breaking of a moral law. The "sharply individual word 'conscience,'" said Dr. Gregg, "does not appear in the Old Testament." We first come upon it in the Apocrypha worship, which at first needed material accessories; later rested upon deeper and more spiri- tual conception. "The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit."

The development of the ideas of justice, of mercy, of the rights of the individual, was most interestingly shown, and the concluding portion of the lecture was de- voted to the consideration of the widening range of ethical consciousness exemplif- ied in the unfolding conceptions of retrib- ution, expiation, forgiveness—and the deepening realization of the sphere of sin and of suffering in human life.

The next lecture, on Thursday, April 26, will be upon "The Old Testament Ethics of the Individual and the Family."

Arbor Day at the High School.

In order that the Arbor Day exercises at the High School may not interfere with the exercises of the grammar schools, the time of beginning has been placed at 10:30 o'clock. Short addresses will be delivered by Mayor Strickler, the "Beautiful in Na- ture," President Slocum on the "Need of Better Knowledge Regarding the Care of Trees;" Mr. George Parsons on "The Lawn and Its Care;" Colonel E. T. En- sign on "Our Forest Reserves." The High School Cadet club and the Girls' Glee club will sing. A vocal solo, by Miss Eva Dudley, and a piano solo, by Miss Dwinell, will also be features of the pro- gramme. It is hoped that this change in the method of observing the day will prove attractive to the citizens of Colo- rado Springs, and that a large attendance may assembly in the auditorium this morning.

Jefferys Lewis.

The announcement that the brilliant emotional actress, Jefferys Lewis, will ap- pear at the Opera House Saturday after- noon and evening should alone be suffi- cient to fill the house, for she is such an established favorite and sterling actress, presenting always interesting plays, hand- somely costumed and intelligently inter- preted by a capable supporting company of players; that when Miss Lewis appears there is seldom any question asked as to what plays she will produce, it being tak- en for granted by her many admirers that it will be something well worth seeing. For her engagement Saturday afternoon and evening Miss Lewis will present her best play, "Forget-Me-Not." Reserved seats are now on sale, and can be se- cured at popular prices. For the after- noon matinee prices will be: Parquette, $1; dress circle, 75 cents; balcony, 50 cents.

"Spider and Fly" Coming.

This popular and remarkably successful spectacle opened its fifth and last tour of America at the Grand Opera House, New York. At the end of the present season, the production will be taken abroad for an indefinite period, having been booked in all the principal cities of Europe. The company which will be seen at the Opera House next Wednesday evening were spe- cially selected for the fourteen weeks' engagement at "The World's Fair, Chi- cago," and all the beautiful scenery, cos- tumes, electric and mechanical effects used during that time will be presented in their entirety, for this is the last sea- son of "Spider and Fly." Popular prices of admission will be charged for this en- gagement.

Heavy Loss by an Electrical Storm.

Decatur, Ill., April 19.—The heaviest electrical storm and rain known for years visited this section last night. The ex- change of the Harrison Telephone com- pany was burned out, entailing a heavy loss to the company, and the electric light companies were also badly damaged. A terrific wind and rain storm swept New Athens last night, damaging houses and outhouses to a great extent. Fences and trees were blown down, and considerable damage done. No one was hurt.

Receivers will be Dispensed With.

Topeka, Kan., April 19.—J. J. Frey, gen- eral manager of the Santa Fe, returned to-day from New York city, where he has been to attend a meeting of the commit- tee on re-organization. In an interview he said that the committee was a very strong one. Mr. Frey is of the opinion that the committee will so arrange the af- fairs of the company that the receiver- ship will be dispensed with before the end of the year, unless there should be marked changes in the financial condition of the country for the worse.

Under the Guillotine

Paris, April 19.—Auguste Lareau was guillotined at Dijon to-day for the mur- der of his mother, his wife and his mis- tress. As a parricide he was led to the guillotine barefooted, wearing only a white shirt and trousers. Before he was taken from his cell a black veil was thrown over his head as a further dis- tinguishing mark of a parricide.

Battle with the Dalton Gang.

TURPIE AS RINGMASTER.

Mr. Turpie's speech of Wednesday shows that a desperate effort is to be made to whip the recalcitrant Democratic Senators into line, and to punish Mr. Hill for his outspoken opposition to the measure.

Mr. Turpie's argument for the bill, briefly stated, was this:

This bill is the official act of the Democratic party in both Houses of Congress;

Every bill approved by a majority of Democrats in both Houses is binding on all Democrats and deserving of their hearty support;

Therefore this bill should receive the support of every Senator, and be put through unchanged.

Mr. Hill's chief claim to distinction for some years was the regularity of his Democracy, and his stock speech was "I am a Democrat." Mr. Turpie's remarks were evidently levelled at him, and were aimed at party regularity because of Mr. Hill's record.

This sort of argument has prevailed already more than once in this Congress. It prevailed in the House on this very bill. Bourke Cockran made a speech as bitter against the income tax as David B. Hill. But when it came to a vote he was with the rest of the Democrats in the line. In fact only a small handful of the Democrats in the House had been denouncing the bill had the courage to vote against it in the end. It is partly because Mr. Turpie knows this that he is trying to put the screws on Hill and the other Democratic Senators who oppose the bill, and partly because he knows that other reasons for passing the bill are scarce.

These efforts might be relied upon with more certainty, if there were any existing standard of Democracy, but there is not. If there ever was one, it has been lost in the shuffle. Usually the platform adopted at the quadrennial national convention of a party is looked upon as the standard for the next four years; but in this case it is the Democratic rebels like Mr. Hill who are nearest to the platform—we will not say on the platform; and it is Mr. Cleveland and the contorted Wilson bill that are furthest away from the platform. If Mr. Turpie and Mr. Voorhees are going to follow the example of the mugwumps and make Mr. Cleveland their only platform, there will be several besides Senator Hill who will refuse to go with them.

The majority of the Democratic party have thrown away their chart; the minority—a very large one—have no confidence in their pilot. Altogether they seem to be in rather a bad fix.

A census of the various industrial armies would be interesting if it could be got at. Estimates as to the relative number of genuine unemployed workingmen and of tramps or vagrants in these bodies differ widely. The behavior of some of the "armies" has been such as to negative the possibility that a majority of them are tramps; but there are undoubtedly a large number of vagrant and generally worthless fellows in the movement. Your genuine tramp or professional beggar seeks a softer job than these fellows have got. Camping in the woods with meals at very irregular hours; marching afoot in the snow over mountains, is not pleasing to him.

The various "industrial armies" are having a very hard time. Kelley's California brigade had a picnic of it as far Council Bluffs, but now they are anything but comfortable. There will be serious suffering, and perhaps some loss of life, if these bodies keep on as they are going.

From Senator Hill's Speech.

I have no patience with the demagogic clamor which is constantly demanding that the rich shall pay all the taxes.

Those who thoughtlessly repeat this cry need to be reminded that this government is not a plutocracy but a republic. Here manhood suffrage almost universally prevails, and property qualifications for political positions of honor and trust are nearly everywhere prohibited. The highest positions in the land are open to the aspirations of the poorest and most obscure youth anywhere to be found.

It is fitting that it should be so. But no man who owns no real estate or that property pays nothing directly towards State, county or municipal taxation nothing toward the free schools which his children attend, nothing toward the maintenance of the highways over which he travels, nothing toward the expenses of the courts where his rights are vindicated and his wrongs redressed, nothing for lighted streets, police protection, public hospitals, jails or almshouses, and nothing for the church at which he worships, because here we have no established religion; and if it were not for custom house taxation—taxation upon consumption—he would pay not a farthing toward the support of the government which protects him and under which he enjoys the blessings and privileges of a free and independent citizen.

It is through this much-abused system of tariff taxation—much abused by its enemies, and misused or carried to extremes sometimes by its friends—that we are enabled to equalize somewhat the burdens of government. It may be safely asserted as an equitable principle, involving no hardship to anyone, that citizens without ownership of real estate or taxable personal property, constituting the most numerous class in every community, and who pay no State or local taxes, ought to contribute something toward the expenses of the general government under which they live; and to enforce the performance of such patriotic obligation the system of indirect taxation based on duties upon foreign imports affords the least offensive method.

If the contention that the rich should pay all the taxes and the poor be exempt therefrom is well founded, then it may well be urged that the rich should monopolize the suffrages and offices of the country.

The very fact that every citizen is obliged to contribute, something, no matter how little, toward the expenses of government whether he owns property or not, fortifies his right to the elective franchise and augments his claim for political preferment. He should regard it as a privilege conferred upon him, a shield against political ostracism; it increases his dignity and influence; and he naturally takes a keener interest in public affairs. The true welfare of the community is subserved by this system of indirect taxation which reaches all, but oppresses none.

I am opposed to any income tax which wholly or in part proposes to supersede this wise and useful method of taxation.

The Sheep Industry of Texas.

Texas alone possesses about 4,000,000 sheep, or about one-eleventh of all the sheep in the United States. These sheep bring into Texas each year about $7,000,000, which is expended in the state for feed, herding, shearing, salt, shedding and the lease of lands. There is a vast amount of rough lands in Texas now being utilized in the sheep industry that pays a good revenue, as the land thus used increases its taxable value, and it otherwise would be comparatively useless.

The agitation for a reduction of the tariff on wools has caused the value of the wool products to drop from 18 to 20 cents to 6 and 8 cents per pound—in fact, to no sales at all—and the value of sheep has fallen in proportion. Taking into consideration the great number of men, directly and indirectly, who are engaged in this industry and the vast amount expended annually among all classes of people, it must be conceded that the position of the people connected with this industry is less favorable than has appeared at any previous time. It is claim that Senator Mills is advocating for his fellow citizens in his own state.

Textile Workers in Europe.

A national congress of textile industries was recently held at Roubaix, France, at which was a delegation from Burnley, England, representing 135,000 English textile workers. A very interesting report has been issued, from which we gather that the weavers of Manchester earn $6.63 a week on the average for 56 hours. The spinners average $8.53, and girls from 18 to 20 years old, $4.30 to $4.50. Piecers earn $4.38, and bobbin boys, $1.76 to $1.95. In France, in Caumbresis and the Department of l'Aisne, the weavers earn 13½ cents to 19½ cents a day of 14 hours. In Germany, in one large weaving factory of 90,000 spindles employing over 1,500 hands, which is a fair example of the other mills, the girls and women earn equal to $1.45 for the week of 66 hours.

Semper Idem.

The city young man staying in the country for a week thought he would go for a hunt.

"I say, landlord," he remarked one morning, "are there any game laws in force around here?"

"Yes," replied the landlord lazily. "It's purty much here as it is most everywhere else. Nobody but a durn fool's goin to trump his pardner's ace."—Detroit Free Press.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

TAX ON STATE BANKS.

THE PROPOSITION TO REPEAL IT DOWN FOR DEFEAT.

Questions to Occupy the Attention of Congress for Some Time to Come—What Is to Be Done With the Man Breckinridge? Old Timers.

WASHINGTON, April 19. [Special.] The great questions in congress for the present, as for some time past, are the repeal of the tax on state bank circulation, the Meyer bill to provide for coining the seigniorage and protecting it by bonds, the bills favored by Mr. Bland and his colaborers, going somewhat further than the former, the Springer bill to establish a bureau of interstate banks, the various labor bills from Mr. McGann's committee and the always interesting measures reported by Mr. Hatch from the committee on agriculture. Of the first named it was stated at the start by the best judges of the temper of the house that it was down for defeat; that it was, in fact, one of those measures which many had to seem to be in favor of, while very few really wanted it. It was adopted by the Democratic caucus, it is true, but only 160 members were present and half of them were the reverse of enthusiastic. It is probably the only measure now pending for increasing the currency to which the Populists are much more strongly opposed than the Republicans. They want more money, it is true, but they are very particular as to having it national money. With all the Republicans and all the Populists opposed to it and half the Democrats hostile or indifferent no prophet was required to foretell its fate.

State Banks.

The bill by Mr. Richards of Ohio to forbid contracts requiring payment in gold has so far excited little more than a good natured smile among the Republicans and such Democrats as vote with them on financial questions. It would at first view seem strange that the Populists should also ridicule such a bill, but they are quite consistent in it, saying that gold is nothing but a commodity and should be treated as such and dealt in with the same freedom as wheat or corn.

The Springer bill provides for a national bureau and central redemption agency for state banks, the United States to have supervision and to hold and certify to the sufficiency of the bonds before any state bank can issue bills on them, but not to guarantee the redemption of the bills as it does of those of the national bank. In case, however, any state bank should fail to redeem its bills on demand this act provides that the central bureau shall, at once act as a receiver, sell the bonds deposited by that bank for whatever they will bring in open market and pay the bill holders pro rata. Such men as Mr. Walker, General Grosvenor, Mr. Dingley and other Republicans who deal largely with financial questions will scarcely take the time to even talk about the possibility of such a scheme. In short, it may be said with confidence that that part of the Democratic platform relating to the tax on state banks has gone into innocuous desuetude.

The Tariff Question.

It is a curious fact that the appeals from all over the country for speedy action on the tariff, which had almost ceased for awhile, were renewed with increased vigor immediately after the late municipal elections, and now both senators and members are bombarded more furiously than ever. Almost every Democratic member has in his possession one or more letters which are a strange mingling of the pathetic and the ludicrous. A Texas member has received one which outdoes Artemus Ward and Josh Billings, though all the humor in it is unintentional. After a frantic appeal for a reduction of the tariff on everything except wool, of which the writer is a producer, and for $50 per capita of silver and paper money, the constituent states that his neighborhood will vote as usual, as there are no Republicans in it, and concludes with this inquiry, "What is Cleveland a-goin to do with that man Breckinridge?"

A Convert to Reedism.

Such letters or something else, probably sheer disgust at their own helplessness, has stirred up the majority members to a vigorous effort, and some of the most interesting scenes of this session have occurred in the discussions of the new rule proposed. Mr. Springer repels, with some indignation, the statement that his plan proves him a convert to Tom Reedism. Fourteen years ago, as he points out, he advocated a proposition almost identical with this one, which was then presented by Mr. Randolph Tucker and amended by Mr. Hunton, both of Virginia.

It is a curious fact that one of the ablest speeches on parliamentary law he ever made was delivered by Mr. Reed in opposing the Tucker rule. In the course of it he said: "A majority of the members present and participating in the business of the house is the constitutional idea of a quorum. It is not the visible presence of the members, but their judgments and votes, that the constitution calls for." That he has made several very able speeches in direct contradiction to that doctrine is a fact of general knowledge, as is his happy explanation on the ground of increasing experience and wisdom.

The Wilson Bill.

A western Democrat says: "When such a seasoned veteran as old Bill Holman gives it up and acknowledges defeat long before the election, the political weather must be getting mighty squally, and old Bill says that if we don't get that tariff act through and get away from here by the middle of June our goose is cooked." It is a true bill. That is just what Mr. Holman says, though he would probably compromise on the middle of July and take chances on the turn of public opinion. General Black, on the other hand, since his return from Illinois, is confident that the people will give plenty of time; that the Wilson bill will become a law in the form it now is in the senate, and that Illinois will give a good healthy majority in its favor. It is indeed cheering to have one healthy optimist on that side of the house, but so far as can yet be seen it isn't catching. Hon. Lyman Trumbull, for 18 years senator from Illinois and author of some of the most important reconstruction legislation, recently surprised his old friends by appearing in the capitol, a little leaner and more wrinkled than of old, but still remarkably vigorous for one of his years. On the same day the veteran Galusha A. Grow spoke on the proposed rules, showing his old time vigor.

He Kept Right On.

A young man of athletic frame and well dressed boarded a Madison street car at Dearborn street at 3 o'clock last Wednesday morning. The car was well filled with other passengers, and he complacently forced himself into a space next the stove and started—puffing a large and obnoxious cigar. The conductor was one of the most bulky of Mr. Yerkes' night agents, and as he walked through the car to collect his fares he stopped before the young man and muttered:

"I don't want you to smoke in this car."

"Don't you?" was the reply. "You evidently don't like smoking. You ought to cultivate the habit. It is very healthful."

There was an air of impending conquest about the young man.

The conductor rang up a few more fares and returned to the charge.

"Come!" he said. "Smoking is not allowed in here."

"Indeed!" coolly replied the young man as he blew a white ring into the conductor's face. "That's too bad." And he continued smoking.

"I tell you you must stop."

"Yes, I heard you. Now, what are you going to do about it? I am not going to stop. I persist in smoking, as you see," and another cloud of smoke came from his lips. "You see what a ridiculous position you are placed in. You tell me I cannot smoke in this car. I do smoke in this car. You quote an order of the company that you are wholly unable to enforce. You are simply helpless. You might be able physically to eject me, but you would hardly care to do that, would you?"

The conductor stared blankly at the speaker, then hopelessly at the amused auditors and walked slowly back to the rear platform.

The young man smiled and smoked.—Chicago Tribune.

A Good One on Judge Lisle.

Judge Lisle, the young congressman from the mountain district of Kentucky, has a bright brother who is a prosperous farmer at home. The farmer brother strolled into the village store in Winchester one day, and the local wit began to quiz him by asking what lie was busying himself about.

"Oh," he replied quietly, "just cutting a little corn and raising a few pigs."

"Just think of it," remarked the storekeeper teasingly. "What a difference there is between members of the same family! Here you are just a plain, ordinary farmer, living along here, raising a few pigs and cutting a little corn, and there's your brother Marcus up in Washington one of the 300 statesmen who are framing the laws for 60,000,000 people. Now, what do you suppose Marcus is doing up there while you are loafing around here in Winchester?"

"Oh," replied the farmer, with a drawl, "I reckon he's roaming around like he always did, just asking everybody what it's all about."—New York Press.

people from Albuquerque have made locations.

A Boulder dispatch says Edwin Williams has sold his interest in the lease on the Tillie Batzel mine at Sunshine to G. P. Blanchard and Harry Holstein. A rich pocket of gold ore was found in this property several days ago.

Careful surveys of the principal mines in the Cochiti mining district have shown that the greater number of the principal mines are outside of the limits of any land grant. This, of course, is great news for the prospectors and boomers.

The Stadaconda mine has been worked during the winter and a good body of ore opened up. Ralph Clark has the contract to haul the product to the Reid mill for concentration before shipping to the smelters.—[Durango Southwest.

Dubois camp is greatly excited over a rich ore discovered on Wolf Creek in the Iron Cap claim and the Gunnison lode. There is about one car of ore on the dump of the Iron Cap, ready for shipment that, according to camp assays, shows $80 per ton.

Mr. Bartlett of the firm of Bartlett & Wray has returned from a short visit to camp. He was especially impressed with the rapidity with which the grading is proceeding for the Florence railroad, and with the boom which is now on at the town of Victor.

A notable transaction yesterday was the selling upon the street within three-quarters of an hour of 50,000 shares of Consolidated at 4 cents by Frank Pettingell. The transaction caused considerable comment and resulted in a decline of the stock.

A Yuma, Ariz., despatch reports an important strike two miles south of the Monitor placer mines at Gila City in a high mountain. The vein is eight feet wide on the summit. In the bottom of the canon it crosses 600 feet below, almost perpendicular. It is twenty feet wide. The vein is very rich in free gold, carrying rich streaks of nuggets all through it. Enthusiasts pronounce it the richest gold strike ever made in the territory.

At the request of Mr. Warren the announcement is made that the Chamber of Commerce Cripple Creek pamphlet will not be ready for distribution until Monday afternoon. This delay is due to the difficulty in binding such a large edition—the first run being 32,000 copies. On Monday half of each order will be delivered. There will be no copies for general distribution until the brokers' orders are all filled.

BETTER FAIR THAN NEVER.

If people had believed in Colorado Springs in the early days and had given it the right kind of handling and "booming," it would to-day be the capital and chief city of the state. It is the natural location to be the railroad center of Colorado; it lies at the very entrance to the best trans-mountain pass in the West, and almost every important mining district is directly tributary to it. It has thrived when other towns were going back; and now, with the greatest of all Colorado mining camps at its very door, it is growing and building up more rapidly than any other western city. Most western towns get ahead of their resources, but Colorado Springs has not kept up with hers. Think of the resources of this city: the greatest summer resort in America, one of the greatest health resorts, a college town, and now the business point of a great mining camp that is becoming greater every day. With all these resources Colorado Springs and Colorado City have only 18,000 population. When these resources are developed the population will be 50,000, and the men who buy real estate now will be rich then. In this town Fortune has been knocking at people's doors for twenty years.

We can sell you vacant lots at $125 each; vacant lots in the best residence quarter at from $850 to $1500; residences at all prices; and business properties at lower prices than they will ever be offered again. Our sales since the first of the month have averaged more than $2000 per day. Be guided by the signs of the times, and buy real estate.

As a special snap we offer a 7 room modern house on monthly payments of $25. Real estate to trade for mining stocks.
